

38th and Meridian Farmers Market

Welcome!

Welcome to the 38th and Meridian Farmer's Market! We keep things simple here: friendly neighbors, local entertainment, and the tastiest produce Indiana has to offer.

We're excited about supporting the community here at 38th and Meridian. From May to October, our vendors bring in loads of locally grown fruit and vegetables, fresh baked bread, cakes, ethnic ingredients, pickles, jams, flowers, and fresh meat. But community is more than locally grown food; we believe that a healthy community needs fun places for families and neighbors to gather together. That's why we bring in local entertainers and feature special events like cooking demonstrations, blood pressure screenings, fire and poison safety. Finally, on the last Thursday of every month, we feature something especially fun for kids, such as story telling, pumpkin painting, school supply giveaways, and performances by local children's choirs.

We proudly accept WIC checks, so everyone can enjoy this community event.

Thursdays, June 4-October 29, 4:00-6:30pm

Location

The market is located in the Northeast corner of North United Methodist Church's parking lot, between 38th and 39th just off Meridian Street. Free on-site parking is always available.

Products

Strawberries, sweet corn, peppers, melons, beans, peas, salad greens, potatoes...if it's growing in central Indiana, we'll do our best to bring it to our market. Near the end of the market season, we also feature seasonal produce including pumpkins, gourds, and apples. We also have several vendors who feature ethnic ingredients commonly used in South Asian cuisine.

Though fresh produce is our first priority, our vendors also offer specialty breads, tasty cakes, honey, jellies, pickles, cheese, salsa and everything in between. We also have a limited number of vendors who sell ready-to-eat snacks including BBQ sandwiches, hot-dogs, chips and soda.

Vendors

We like smiling faces and good food. Our vendors bring both. If you are interested in selling at the 38th & Meridian Farmers Market, please email Joel O'Neil at Joelo@forumcu.com.
