

Bridges of Hope:

A community conversation

on reconciliation

facilitated by Chris Rice

God has given us the ministry of reconciliation.

-- 2 Corinthians 5:18

Saturday, April 18
9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
North United Methodist Church
Fellowship Hall
3808 N. Meridian St.
Free-will offering for lunch

Chris Rice is co-director of Duke Divinity School's Center for Reconciliation and co-author of Reconciling All Things. Chris has worked on racial reconciliation in communities from Jackson, MS, to western Africa to Durham, NC.

This powerful workshop experience is designed to encourage us with the difficult work of serving as one Body of Christ in our community and world.

The conversation will be facilitated by Chris Rice, co-director of the Center for Reconciliation at Duke Divinity School. Chris will help laity and clergy from church and non-profit organizations to engage with reconciliation issues in the Indianapolis community.

Join us as we seek to name and move to heal the divisions that separate us as the people of God, including racial, economic, denominational, class and other social barriers.

We are extending an invitation to a group of participants from your church or organization in hopes that you will enliven our conversation on April 18 as we continue the work of reconciliation in our community.
